Full Stack Developer | Next.js | TypeScript | Claude Code

SUMMARY

Full Stack Developer focused on Next.js, React and TypeScript, building web platforms and sports management systems for national confederations and state federations. I work with AI-assisted development using Claude Code, taking demands from client requirements all the way to production.

Before moving into technology, I worked as a songwriter, music producer and copywriter, and I am a published author, a finalist for the Off Flip Literature Prize. That background gives me ease in communicating with non-technical clients and a close attention to user experience.

EXPERIENCE

Bigmídia, São Paulo, Brazil (Remote) — Front-end Developer

APRIL 2024 – PRESENT

Development of web platforms and sports management systems for confederations and federations such as CBB, CBR, CBAt and FEEMG, using Next.js, React, TypeScript, Tailwind CSS and React Query, with REST integrations to the SGE (sports management system).

AI-assisted development with Claude Code (Plan Mode, Skills, Hooks, subagents and MCP) across an ecosystem of about 15 repositories, including the creation of a Skill that automates the scaffolding of new federation websites.

Contributed to the athletics competition management system for CBAt (Brazilian Athletics Confederation) and provided on-site support to referees during its first use at an official competition.

Work on a multi-tenant project and on electronic scoresheet systems for futsal, volleyball and basketball.

Client-facing work: requirements gathering, creating tickets in Jira, and communicating technical decisions in accessible language.
